

1. Provide data showing average customer increase or decrease in energy usage since 2010;
2. Breakdown that data to show only those customers that utilize budget billing; and

KCP&L-MO

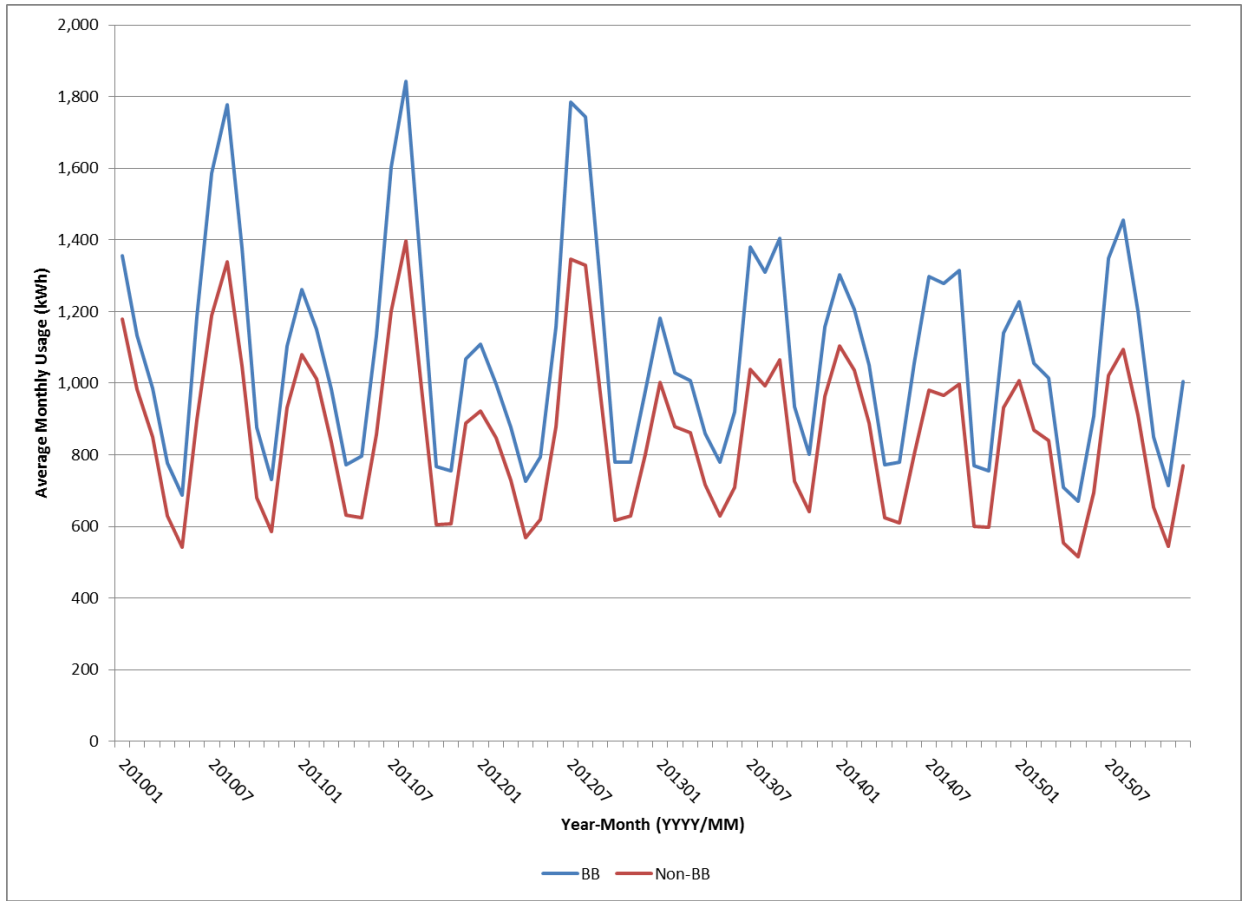

The below values account for all KCP&L-MO residential customers during the 2010-2015 time period, both on and off Budget Billing, without weather normalization. The data shows the average energy usage per month for each year for all residential customers. This information is then split out to reflect customers on Budget Billing and not on Budget Billing. The average decrease in monthly kWh usage by year can be seen at the bottom for the 2010-2015 time period. These values indicate that all KCP&L-MO residential customers' average monthly energy usage decreased 21.21 kWh per year, Budget Billing customers' average monthly usage decreased 23.63 kWh per year, and non-Budget Billing customers' average monthly usage decreased 23.01 kWh per year.

- Prepare a coefficient correlation and any other relevant statistical measures to show if there is a significant deviation in average energy consumption between customers who use budget billing and customer who do not use budget billing.

Linear Regression Trends as a function of monthly averages by year yields the following results:
