SBC Announces UNE-P rate stability through the end of 2004:

In the event you have not had the opportunity to read about it in the press, this letter is to make you aware that on June 9, 2004, in light of recent events related to the D.C. Circuit's USTA II decision, SBC has committed not to unilaterally increase the pricing for mass market UNE-P, or USTA II-affected high-capacity loops, or USTA II-affected high-capacity dedicated transport between SBC's offices through at least the remainder of 2004. This commitment means that SBC will continue providing to our wholesale customers mass-market UNE-P, DS1 and DS3 loops, and DS1 and DS3 dedicated transport between SBC central offices, and will not unilaterally increase the applicable state-approved prices for these facilities through December 31, 2004. Of course, those TELRIC rates are otherwise subject to change in accordance with the provisions of each CLEC's interconnection agreement.

It is hoped that this additional effort by SBC to provide stability to the marketplace will further encourage SBC's CLEC customers to engage in rational business discussions designed to transition to a market no longer distorted by unlawful unbundling requirements. This commitment is solely to facilitate stability, and does not constitute agreement by SBC that any of these facilities are lawfully required under Section 251(c)(3), and, of course, SBC reserves any and all rights to challenge the lawfulness of any requirement to provide these facilities, along with their associated rates.

If you have any questions, please refer them to your SBC Account Manager.
