It's mostly Spire and it's contractors-but utility permitting and oversight could definitely use a good deal more attention.

Good point. Street and sidewalk closures are not well-coordinated even when they're not perpetual.

I wonder if [redacted] tweet thread would be good to show to the @MissouriPSC? Maybe Silvey and Holsman might take up the cause.

That's a very good thought. This wanton inefficiency can't be in the interest of ratepayers. [redacted]

We'd definitely like to look into this. Will you DM the location, please?

The road surface is cracked and broken everywhere on the block. The constant jackhammers have also caused some structural damage to adjacent buildings. It's the same story for the whole neighborhood.

But mostly I'm curious why they dig and fill the same hole over and over!
