Re: Correction to Tariff Schedules to Adjust FAC Rate of KCP&L Greater Missouri Operations Company
Case No. EO-2009-0254

Dear Ms. Dale:

On December 30, 2008, KCP&L Greater Missouri Operations Company (“KCP&L-GMO” or the “Company”) submitted proposed rate schedules to adjust charges related to the Company’s approved Fuel Adjustment Clause (“FAC”) pursuant to 4 C.S.R. 240-20.090(4) of the regulations of the Missouri Public Service Commission (“Commission”). The proposed rate schedules bear an issue date of December 30, 2008, and an effective date of March 1, 2009.

KCP&L-GMO is engaged in a project to test the burning of biofuel at the Company’s Sibley Generating station. The project will assist the Company in determining whether an alternate fuel source could be available to help meet some type of renewable portfolio standard or offset potential environmental costs related to burning coal, e.g., some form of carbon tax.

After making its FAC submission in this case, the Company discovered that it inadvertently omitted the incremental costs of this project for the period June 2008 through November 2008. The Company incurred $327,751 in biofuel costs during this period and has accordingly revised the FAC rate schedule and accompanying workpapers for recovery of the allowed 95% pass through. The attached rate schedule and workpapers reflect the correction of that omission.

The Commission, in its Order in Case No. ER-2007-0004 stated that Aquila (now KCP&L-GMO) will be allowed to flow variable fuel and purchased power costs through its FAC. Biofuel costs are variable, both in terms of quantity and price.

Copies of the corrected FAC-related rate schedule and accompanying workpapers will be served electronically, this date, on the Commission's General Counsel, the Office of Public Counsel, parties to this case, and parties to the Company's last general rate case, Case No. ER-2007-0004.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Curtis D. Blanc
