

ATT TARIFF USAGE

Larry Lovett says Channel Services are from POP to POP and there is only one POP in an exchange.

For clarity of ATT's tariffs:

PSC MO No. 9 covers Channel Services. This is what I would call interexchange service for ATT.

PSC MO No. 11 covers the Local Channel which is from the customer to the POP. This is what I would call local private line service for ATT.

A. SHEET NUMBERING

Sheet numbers appear in the upper-right corner of the sheet. Sheets are numbered sequentially. When a new sheet is added between existing sheets with whole numbers, a decimal is added. For example, a new sheet added between sheets 34 and 35 would be 34.1.

B. SHEET REVISION NUMBERS

Revision numbers also appear in the upper-right corner of the sheet. These numbers are used to determine the most current sheet version on file with the Missouri Public Service Commission. For example, 4th Revised Sheet 34 cancels 3rd Revised Sheet 34.

C. NUMBERING SEQUENCE

There are nine levels of alpha-numeric coding. Each level is subservient to its next higher level. The following is an example of the numbering sequence used in this tariff.

No Customer or User is authorized to perform those functions or to rearrange, disconnect or remove a local channel service without AT&T's written consent. AT&T will assure that each local channel service functions properly within its specified transmission or signaling parameters. The technical characteristics and specifications for each category of local channel service are described in the respective local channel service sections.

1. ENGINEERING

AT&T will assure that a local channel service is engineered to meet its transmission parameters and/or equipment specifications. Certain technical information is published regarding local channel service which the Customer can obtain in the form of Technical Publications, as specified in this tariff (see Technical Publication Information, Sheet 18). 2. INSTALLATION

AT&T will schedule installation activity to meet the due date of the local channel service. If the Customer's request that installation activity be performed at other than AT&T's scheduled time results in premium payment for labor, additional charges will apply (see Additional Installation/Maintenance Functions, Section 18.2.2).

The local channels provided under this tariff (a) will include any entrance cable or drop wiring and wire or intrabuilding cable to that point where provision is made for termination of the Local Exchange Company's outside distribution network facilities at a suitable location inside a Customer's premises and (b) will be installed to such point of termination.

3. MAINTENANCE

AT&T will arrange for the maintenance and repair of local channel services. The testing of a service which is routed through an AT&T Central Office will be made from that office. However, when the Customer orders a local channel service, which does not connect through an AT&T Central Office, AT&T's ability to test and restore that service is diminished. In such cases, however, AT&T will arrange for the appropriate tests to be performed by the Local Exchange Company(ies) involved.

2. INSTALLATION

AT&T will schedule installation activity to meet the due date of the local channel service. If the Customer's request that installation activity be performed at other than AT&T's scheduled time results in premium payment for labor, additional charges will apply (see Additional Installation/Maintenance Functions, Section 18.2.2).

The local channels provided under this tariff (a) will include any entrance cable or drop wiring and wire or intrabuilding cable to that point where provision is made for termination of the Local Exchange Company's outside distribution network facilities at a suitable location inside a Customer's premises and (b) will be installed to such point of termination.

3. MAINTENANCE

AT&T will arrange for the maintenance and repair of local channel services. The testing of a service which is routed through an AT&T Central Office will be made from that office. However, when the Customer orders a local channel service, which does not connect through an AT&T Central Office, AT&T's ability to test and restore that service is diminished. In such cases, however, AT&T will arrange for the appropriate tests to be performed by the Local Exchange Company(ies) involved.

2.1.3 PROVISION OF LOCAL CHANNEL SERVICE (Continued)

3. MAINTENANCE (Continued)

If a trouble condition occurs, the Customer is responsible for determining if the trouble is in any Customer Equipment or Customer-provided communications system which is connected at the Customer's premises. A Maintenance of Service Charge will apply if, at the Customer's request, a repair person is dispatched to the Customer's premises and testing discloses that the local channel is functioning correctly (see Maintenance of Service Charge, Section 18.2.4). No charge will apply, however, if at a later time the trouble condition is actually determined to be a malfunction of any AT&T-provided private line service.

2.1.4 THROUGH TRANSMISSION OF SIGNALS

AT&T is responsible for engineering, operating and maintaining the service it provides. It is also responsible for the quality of transmission and/or signaling on the service it provides.

2.1.5 LIMITATIONS ON THE PROVISION OF A LOCAL CHANNEL SERVICE

A. AVAILABILITY

A local channel service is offered subject to the availability of the facilities and equipment required to provide the service.

When Special Construction is necessary, the provisions and charges as set forth in Private Line Services Tariff P.S.C. Mo. No. 9 will (CT) apply.

C. HAZARDOUS LOCATIONS

A local channel will not be furnished at a location AT&T considers hazardous (e.g., explosive atmosphere environments). In such cases, AT&T, if so requested, will terminate the local channel at a mutually agreeable alternate location. The Customer will then be responsible for extension of the local channel to the hazardous location.

2.1.6 TRANSFER OR ASSIGNMENT

A local channel service may be transferred or assigned to a new Customer, provided that:

- A. The Customer of record (former Customer) requests in writing that AT&T transfer or assign the local channel service to the new Customer.
- B. The new Customer notifies AT&T in writing that it agrees to assume all obligations of the former Customer at the time of transfer or assignment. These obligations include: (1) all outstanding indebtedness for the local channel service, (2) the unexpired portion of any applicable minimum payment period(s), and (3) any applicable termination liability(ies).
