SERVICE OPTIONS

Each customer meeting the eligibility requirements of this schedule shall elect one service option; Sales or Transportation Service. Customers must give the Company 12 months written notice before they may switch from sales to transportation service, unless the customer has paid the Company a charge designed to reimburse the Company for any costs which have been incurred to provide sales service to the customer and which cannot be avoided or recouped through other reasonably available means. Such costs may include interstate pipeline charges for storage and transportation and higher gas costs because of a decrease in purchase volumes. Customer must give the Company 12 months written notice to switch from transportation to sales service, unless sales gas is otherwise available and the customer has paid the Company the incremental cost of providing such service in the period prior to when such notice would have otherwise become effective. Such costs may include incremental pipeline transportation and storage capacity and higher gas supply costs. For a period of six months after the effective date of this tariff, the 12 month notice requirement will be waived.

failure to make a Contract Demand election at the required time shall be sufficient cause for the Company to reduce the Contract Demand to zero for the following year. Such reductions shall relieve the Company of the obligation to serve the customer's needs in excess of the Contract Demand level. Increases in the Contract Demand level may be made only with approval of the Company which shall not be withheld if the net change by all customers eligible to specify Contract Demand levels results in a decreased requirement for such gas large enough to accommodate the requested increase or if the net change results in an increased requirement and the Company is able to secure a sufficient supply of gas to meet such increased requirements. If the Company is unable to secure a sufficient gas supply for this purpose, the added supply, if any, will be allocated among the customers requesting an increase in their Contract Demand level based on the proportion each customer's requested increase bears to the total increase requested by all customers. Overrun Penalty:

Volumes of gas taken at any time in excess of the amount specified by the Company in the interruption notice as being available to Customer shall constitute overrun gas. If the Customer causes the Company to incur pipeline supplier penalties, those penalties will be assessed to the customer causing such overrun penalties. Penalty of $500.00 plus $2.50 per Ccf of such overrun volumes shall be paid by Customer in addition to all other charges payable hereunder. After the third instance within a three years of a customer taking overrun gas, neither interruptible service and transportation service shall be available to the customer, and the Customer shall be automatically transferred to a firm rate schedule. The Company shall have the right to waive any portion of the overrun penalties, excluding overrun penalties assess by the Company by the pipeline supplier, on a non-discriminatory basis for good cause. An example of good cause in this instance would be an emergency situation where the Customer cannot immediately comply with the curtailment directed by the Company through no intentional act by the Customer. Another situation would be where, after the Customer was ordered to curtail and did not for reasons beyond the Customer's reasonable control, and the Company did not experience any distribution problems as a result of the Customer's failure to comply. An example that does not constitute good cause is a situation where the customer, after being directed to curtail, intentionally, and with no justifiable reason, refuses to comply. The Company will maintain all documentation regarding the waiver of the penalty. The appropriateness of such waiver shall be addressed in the appropriate ACA case. Penalty charge revenues shall be considered Purchased Gas Adjustment revenue recovery for Actual Cost Adjustment factor computations.
