

be needed to avoid voltage support and grid reliability problems before Rush Island can safely be retired. The plaintiffs agree that retirement will obviate the need to install the scrubber, but argue retirement of the plant should be done promptly, and no later than 26 weeks, if ordered by the Court.

Staff asks the Commission to direct it to investigate: the impact of the retirement of Rush Island, including potential impacts on the reliability and adequacy of Ameren Missouri's service to its ratepayers; Ameren Missouri's plans to mitigate the effects of that retirement; and the prudence of Ameren Missouri's actions and decisions with respect to Rush Island. Staff also proposes to undertake an accounting of all expenses incurred by Ameren Missouri's ratepayers, or likely to be incurred by ratepayers, due to any imprudence by Ameren Missouri.

The Commission is concerned about potential impacts on the reliability and adequacy of Ameren Missouri's service to its ratepayers, including possible power outages, service disruptions, and excessive costs that could result from an accelerated retirement of Rush Island. Retirement of a generating plant providing power to the transmission grid must be planned appropriately to ensure that continued safe and reliable service is provided to captive customers, and the appropriate timing of a retirement must be evaluated to avoid service disruptions. Ameren Missouri's current Integrated Resource Plan (IRP) assumes that Rush Island will be operated for another fifteen years. Ameren Missouri is scheduled to update its preferred resource plan by July 15, 2022, to account for the closing of Rush Island,<sup>1</sup> but that evaluation is not yet complete and has not been reviewed by the Commission.
