Ameren Missouri Donates 1,000 Energy-Efficient Air Conditioners to Cooldownstlouis.org

As summer approaches and Missourians face heightened financial hardship resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic, Ameren Missouri is partnering with Cooldownstlouis.org and Cooldownmissouri.org to help at-risk families and seniors stay cool and safe. Ameren Missouri donated 1,000 air conditioners and 1,000 four-packs of LED light bulbs to Cooldownstlouis.org and Cooldownmissouri.org to support the most vulnerable customers in St. Louis and eastern Missouri.

- Celebrating 20 years of partnership, Ameren Missouri is also donating $500,000 to Cooldownstlouis.org and Cooldownmissouri.org, along with 1,000 energy efficient air conditioner units and 1,000 packages of LED light bulbs, to help seniors and income-eligible customers stay cool this summer.

"The summer heat in our region can be extremely dangerous for people without access to air conditioning, particularly for seniors and those with medical conditions," said Marty Lyons, chairman and president of Ameren Missouri. "Our partnership with Cooldownstlouis.org, Cooldownmissouri.org and the social service and community action agencies from across our service territory helps ensure our customers can stay safe and healthy as temperatures begin to rise."

Ameren Missouri Extends No Disconnection Policy

As Missouri families and businesses continue to deal with the effects of COVID-19, Ameren Missouri has extended our no disconnection policy and is continuing to waive late fees for customers through at least July 1. The non-disconnect and late fee waiver policy was instituted in mid-March.

We understand that many of our customers continue to face financial hardships caused by COVID-19, which is why we are extending our no disconnect policy, said Tara Oglesby, vice president, Customer Experience for Ameren Missouri. If customers are behind on their energy bills, Ameren Missouri will continue to be as flexible as possible, working with customers to set up a payment plan or advising them of energy assistance dollars available in their area.
