AMEREN MISSOURI'S RESPONSE IN OPPOSITION TO MARK EDWARD KREBS' MOTION TO INTERVENE

COMES NOW Union Electric Company d/b/a Ameren Missouri ("Ameren Missouri" or "Company") and in response to the Motion to Intervene ("Motion") of Mark Edward Krebs, states as follows:

- 1. On November 21, 2023, Ameren Missouri initiated this proceeding by filing its Application to issue securitized utility tariff bonds pursuant to Section 393.1700, RSMo. (Cum. Supp. 2023) relating to its upcoming retirement of its Rush Island Energy Center ("Rush Island"). On November 22, 2023, the Missouri Public Service Commission ("Commission") issued its Order Directing Notice, Setting a Deadline to Intervene, and Directing a Proposed Procedural Schedule, which established an intervention motion deadline of December 15, 2023. Mr. Krebs timely filed the Motion.
- 2. The Motion notes that Mr. Krebs has been an Ameren Missouri customer for nearly three decades and states the Mr. Krebs "strongly contend[s] that the most likely results of this unfolding travesty [a reference to this case] will be serious economic harm (at best) to me and consumers like me." The Motion, in the next sentence, also makes clear Mr. Krebs' personal opposition to the upcoming closure of Rush Island.¹

¹ Mr. Krebs' opposition to Rush Island's retirement is irrelevant not just because his intervention should be denied under the applicable law, as discussed below, but because this case involves no question whatsoever respecting whether Rush Island will close. It will, by October 15, 2024, as required by the September 30, 2023 Order of the

- 3. The courts in Missouri have long held that individual residential customers of utilities do not have an interest which is different from that of the general public which would justify the granting of their intervention in Commission cases. See State ex rel. Consumers Public Service Co. v. Public Service Commission, 180 S.W.2d 40 (Mo. banc 1944) ("It is certainly not intended [by the Public Service Commission Law] that every citizen may participate in any case. That would prevent the Commission from functioning efficiently"); R. P. Smith and J. Hugh Smith v. Public Service Commission, 336 S.W.2d 491 (Mo. 1960) (Discussing the propriety of the Commission's denial of intervention to an individual customer who "did not have any interest in the case aside or different from that of the general public" and as did the Court in Consumers, noting that the law "did not contemplate that every citizen may participate [in Commission cases] and that allowing such participation would "prevent the effective administration of justice."); and State ex rel. Dyer v. Public Service Commission, 341 S.W.2d 795, 796 (Mo. 1960) (Indicating that the interest of the individual at issue was not different from that of the general public ("Dyer's interest here as a consumer appears to us to be no different from that of the members of the general public") and further noting that he "general consumer public was adequately represented."²).
- 4. In order to intervene, Mr. Krebs either must establish that he has an interest that is different from the interests of the general public (he does not, as discussed above) or the Commission must conclude that allowing his intervention would serve the public interest (it would not, also as discussed above).³ Consequently, under 20 CSR 4240-2.075, Mr. Krebs does not meet the requirements for intervention, and his Motion should be denied.

United States of America v. Ameren Missouri, Civil Action No. 4:11-cv-00077-RWS, US. Dist. Ct. for the E.D. of Missouri. Please note that the referenced Order contains a typographical error in that in one place it specifies a closure date of no later than October 25, 2024 but later, consistent with the Court's on-the-record statements, specifies the date as October 15, 2024.

² This was true even though the Office of the Public Counsel did not exist at this time but of course the Commission's Staff was a party to the Dyer case, as it is to all Commission cases. Although the Commission retains discretion to grant intervention, the Commission has generally not permitted intervention in Commission cases by individual members of the public. This makes sense and is directly in accord with the Legislature's intent when it created the Office of the Public Counsel, which is specifically empowered to "represent. . . the public in any proceeding." Section 386.710.1(2). Public Counsel is an active party to this case, as evidenced by it filing of one motion and its ongoing discovery directed to the Company in this case.

WHEREFORE, Ameren Missouri respectfully requests that the Commission issue an order denying Mr. Krebs' request to intervene in this proceeding.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ James B. Lowery

³ Mr. Krebs' notation that he is a "principal" with "MasterResource" and with another group or entity, "Gas Analytics & Advisory Services" does not aid in his effort to intervene. "MasterResource" is a "Free-Market Energy Blog (https://www.masterresource.org/about/#m_krebs) and while the nature of "Gas Analytics"... is unclear, this case certainly does not involve gas. Neither of the endeavors has been shown to have any interest that would be "adversely affected" by the Commission's decision in this case, nor has there been any showing how allowing Mr. Krebs' intervention would serve the overall public interest.
