Brief Description

Mr. Hull's Rebuttal Testimony

Description

At pg. 2 Ins. 6 – 7 of his rebuttal testimony, Mr. Hull states "However, Staff has not alleged this as an imprudent decision in this case." Please admit it is true that the only reason Staff has not alleged imprudence in this case – with respect to the issues raised by Ms. Mantle – is because Staff is not capable of calculating "the disallowance associated with it [that] would need to be provided." If Mr. Hull does not believe this is true, please provide a narrative response explaining why.

Response

Staff has not alleged this as an imprudent decision in this case due to the number of variables that would need to be considered. With respect to the disallowance proposed by Ms. Mantle, she uses real numbers in a hypothetical example, with many unknown variables. Data Request Response provided by Jordan Hull (jordan.hull@psc.mo.gov).
