Statement: This response is Public. No Confidential Statement is needed.

Response:

Yes, Evergy was aware of other J-class or similar combustion turbines that had been built or were being operated before undertaking internal discussions about pursuing this technology.

Evergy conducted multiple site visits to sites with J-class and similar combustion turbines. During these site visits, Evergy evaluated the J-class turbine and spoke with plant representatives, as well as OEM representatives. Evergy made site visits to existing operating J-class sites and to J-class sites that were under construction.
