POSITION STATEMENT OF SIERRA CLUB

COMES NOW, Sierra Club and for its Position Statement respectfully states as follows:

With respect to all issues, Sierra Club takes no position at this time but reserves the right to do so based on the evidence presented at hearing.

Ultimately, Sierra Club believes that any adopted tariff must ensure that large load customers do not encumber other customers with incremental cost or risk and also pay their fair share of the cost of the generation and transmission needed to meet their energy and capacity demands. To that end, in Evergy’s large load tariff docket before the Kansas Corporation Commission, seventeen parties—several of whom are parties to this docket—negotiated a unanimous settlement that fairly resolved nearly identical issues presented before this Commission. The settlement in the Kansas docket adequately, in Sierra Club’s view, insulates the utility from stranded asset risk incurred in highly concentrated large-load customers, provides that large-load customers mitigate the costs that they cause on Evergy’s system and, separately, provides a means by which these customers can procure clean energy to meet their goals while also benefiting all of Evergy’s customers at no direct cost to non-large load customers. Sierra Club believes a very similar agreement could and should be reached in this docket.
