Why can't you go out of your way to avoid people's houses? This path that connects the two lines in Worth County has not been approved by the landowners. We built our house on HWY Y for the view over the family farm. We do not want to look out our window at these or the radiation that comes from them. Following middle fork allows you to avoid going near anyone's house. This current path goes right between 2 new builds that built for the view on a generational farm. The farm owner has not signed any contract for this path. So knowing that the landowners will not sell rights, does that must mean eminent domain or what happens next?"

Good morning and thank you for reaching out. The purpose of the open house style meetings is to gather information from landowners. If you are planning to attend, we would like you to identify where the new builds are located, and we will review. If you do not make it today, could you mark on the map screenshot where these new build homes are located?

Final routing decisions will be made in early May.

Thank you!

Scott Gross"

April Healy 4/9/2024 8:29 AM Thank you for the response. We are 3 miles east of Grant City on HWY 46. I followed the yellow path for quite a ways and it seems that for the most part you guys have avoided houses. I'm hoping you can find a way again. I am unable to attend today but hoping the pasture landowners (Miller Brothers Ranch) can do so.
