1 SURREBUTTAL TESTIMONY OF
2 AMANDA C. McMELLEN
3 THE EMPIRE DISTRICT ELECTRIC COMPANY
4 CASE NO. ER-2006-0315

5 Q. Please state your name and business address.

6 A. Amanda C. McMellen, 200 Madison Street, Suite 440, Jefferson City, MO 7 65102.

8 Q. Are you the same Amanda C. McMellen that has previously filed rebuttal 9 testimony in this case?

10 A. Yes, I am.

11 Q. What is the purpose of this testimony?

12 A. I am addressing certain aspects of The Empire District Electric Company's 13 (Empire or Company) rebuttal filing, regarding certain corrections to the Staff's case and the 14 Company's incentive compensation plans.

15 EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

16 Q. Please provide a brief summary of your testimony.

17 A. My testimony addresses the Staff's position regarding incentive compensation 18 plans at Empire. The Staff has consistently followed the same methodology and criteria 19 established by the Commission almost twenty years ago. The Staff does not object to 20 Empire's practice of offering its employees variable compensation based on attainment of 21 certain goals. However, incentive compensation for all employees should be based on goals 22 that benefit the ratepayer.

STAFF CORRECTIONS

Q. What correction has the Staff made regarding the Operations and Maintenance (O&M) expense factor reflected in its direct filing?

A. The Staff found an error in its calculation of the O&M factor. This error has been corrected and the O&M expense factor has been updated from 72.56% (Staff direct) to 75.00%.

Q. Does the Company agree with this correction?

A. Yes. Empire witness Jayna R. Long agrees with this correction on page 6, lines 13-16, of her rebuttal testimony.

Q. Are you addressing any other corrections made by the Staff?

A. Yes. Empire witness Long mentions on page 11 of her rebuttal testimony that the Staff made a duplicate adjustment regarding stock options.

Q. Does the Staff agree with this correction?

A. Yes. Adjustment S-79.4 was a duplicate adjustment and has been eliminated from the Staff's case.

INCENTIVE COMPENSATION

Q. Please explain the Company's position on this issue as indicated in the rebuttal testimony of Empire witness Bauer.

A. Empire witness Gene E. Bauer, PhD., implies that the Company's incentive compensation program is simply the "at risk" portion of its overall executive compensation. Dr. Bauer advocates that the Commission should not evaluate Empire's "at risk" incentive compensation separately from its base salary compensation in setting rates. Dr. Bauer believes that the Company should be able to recover all costs associated with incentive

Surrebuttal Testimony of
Amanda C. McMellen

1 compensation in order to maintain a total compensation package that is comparable to similar 2 executives at comparable employers. Dr. Bauer applies this same philosophy to the incentive 3 compensation awarded to non-executive employees as well.

4 Q. Please explain the Staff's position on this issue.

5 A. The Staff has proposed adjustments to the Company's executive and non-6 executive incentive compensation expense, including the disallowance of a portion of the 7 specific payments for achieving goals, referred to as annual cash incentives, and all costs 8 associated with stock options. The Staff also has not included costs for performance shares 9 awarded to Empire executives.

10 Q. Does Dr. Bauer identify Empire's compensation "philosophy"?

11 A. Yes. A summary of Empire's executive compensation "philosophy" is 12 provided on page 6, lines 14-20, of Dr. Bauer's rebuttal testimony.

13 Q. Does the Staff agree with Dr. Bauer's comments?

14 A. The Staff believes that additional details related to Empire's executive 15 compensation targets are important in order to understand the compensation targets presented 16 in Dr. Bauer's testimony. The Staff received a copy of the Highly Confidential Empire
17 District Electric Company Executive Compensation Review, Discussion Draft, October 2003, 18 Revised January 2004, (Compensation Review) in response to Staff Data Request No. 244 in 19 this proceeding. This document is still used by Empire today to support its compensation 20 policies. I have attached this document as Highly Confidential Schedule I to my surrebuttal 21 testimony. The targeted percentiles selected for the three components of executive 22 compensation, base salary, total cash compensation (base salary plus annual incentive) and 23 total direct compensation (total cash compensation plus long-term incentives) are based on the

Surrebuttal Testimony of
Amanda C. McMellen

1 HayGroup's Executive Compensation Report of 700 (All-Exec Group) organizations across 2 all industry sectors, not the Peer Group Compensation Market (peer group) of twelve publicly 3 traded electrical utilities, referred to by Dr. Bauer in his rebuttal testimony on page 15, 4 lines 21-23, continuing onto page 16, lines 1-11. Explanations of Empire's philosophy and a 5 further description of executive groups that the targeted percentiles are based upon are found 6 on pages 3-4 of the Compensation Review.

7 Q. Does Dr. Bauer appear to agree with the Commission's prior decisions 8 concerning the inclusion or exclusion of incentive compensation?

9 A. No. Dr. Bauer does not appear to advocate that the Commission or its Staff 10 perform any review of the targets/goals employed in a utility's incentive compensation 11 program. He believes that the incentive compensation awarded to the employees at Empire 12 should be fully recovered in rates because the total compensation is reasonable compared to 13 other companies. This approach is inconsistent with the Commission's prior decisions on 14 incentive compensation issues.

15 Q. What is the Staff's incentive compensation position based upon?

16 A. The Staff's incentive compensation position in this proceeding is based upon 17 the Commission's decisions in prior cases beginning with the Report and Order in Case Nos.
18 EC-87-114 and EC-87-115, Union Electric Company, which states:

19 At a minimum, an acceptable management performance plan should 20 contain goals that improve existing performance, and the benefits of the 21 plan should be ascertainable and reasonably related to the incentive 22 plan.

23 Q. How has the Staff interpreted this and other Commission decisions on 24 incentive compensation in this case?

25 A. The Staff's interpretation of the Commission's criterion for improvement of 1 existing performance anticipates that employees perform at a level beyond their basic job 2 requirements in order to receive incentive compensation. Goals should be set to quantify 3 specific job performance, using objective criteria that can be directly identified with the 4 incentive compensation program. The goals should also focus on employee performance that 5 can be associated with ratepayer benefits. The Commission has been applying these criteria 6 to the issue of incentive compensation for almost twenty years. Most recently, the 7 Commission in its Report and Order for Case No. GR-2004-0209, Missouri Gas Energy, re-8 affirmed its position:

9 The Commission agrees with Staff and Public Counsel that the 10 financial incentive portions of the incentive compensation plan should 11 not be recovered in rates. Those financial incentives seek to reward the 12 company's employees for making their best efforts to improve the 13 company's bottom line. Improvements to the company's bottom line 14 chiefly benefit the company's shareholders, not its ratepayers. Indeed, 15 some actions that might benefit a company's bottom line, such as a 16 large rate increase, or the elimination of customer service personnel, 17 might have an adverse effect on ratepayers.

18 If the company wants to have an incentive compensation plan that 19 rewards its employees for achieving financial goals that chiefly benefit 20 shareholders, it is welcome to do so. However, the shareholders that 21 benefit from that plan should pay the costs of that plan. The portion of 22 the incentive compensation plan relating to the company's financial 23 goals will be excluded from the company's cost of service revenue 24 requirement.

25 Q. Respecting page 11 lines 3-22 of Dr. Bauer's rebuttal testimony, is the Staff's 26 disallowance of a portion of the annual cash incentives reasonable?

27 A. Yes, I relied on the following historical Commission standard regarding 28 incentive compensation: at a minimum, an acceptable management performance plan should 29 contain goals that improve existing performance, and the benefits of the plan should be 30 ascertainable and reasonably related to the plan. The Staff believes this is a reasonable 31 standard and the Staff's adjustment is a reflection of this standard by allowing annual cash

Surrebuttal Testimony of
Amanda C. McMellen

1 incentives for results that were at or under budget where the incentive compensation was tied 2 to a performance goal respecting the budget. Allowing payments for budget related goals that 3 reward results that are over budget, as Empire has done, would be rewarding actions that do 4 not improve existing performance.

5 Q. Has the Staff, in fact, been conservative in its treatment of the cash incentives?

6 A. Yes. By disallowing payments for results that were over budget, the Staff has 7 correctly utilized the historical Commission standard. This is a conservative approach 8 particularly appropriate in the Empire case due to the fact that the Staff has generic concerns 9 regarding the use of budgets as performance indicators and considered disallowance of all 10 incentive compensation tied to budget goals. The executives of Empire receiving the 11 incentives are the same individuals who approve the budgets that are used as performance 12 indicators for the cash incentives. Under Empire's approach to incentive compensation, there 13 is an incentive for executives to set budgets at a level that can be achieved rather than at a 14 level that represents true improvement in performance.

15 Q. Respecting pages 12 and 13 of Dr. Bauer's rebuttal testimony, please explain 16 why the Staff has disallowed the cost of stock options included in the executive long-term 17 incentive.

18 A. The Staff has disallowed the cost of stock options for several reasons. The 19 granting of these options is not associated with any increase in duties or achievement of goals 20 and no measurement of whether any specific level of performance was met or exceeded. In 21 addition, the triggering mechanism for these stock options is share price appreciation. There 22 are too many variables beyond the control of the individuals receiving the incentive 23 compensation for this financial goal to be appropriate and there is the separate matter of the 1 appropriateness of the goal of share price appreciation. Changes in share price can result 2 from changes in operating results, which in turn are affected by such items as changes in 3 weather and changes in fuel prices. The executives of Empire do not have any control over 4 the weather, matters that cause disruptions in the flow of oil and gas from the producing 5 countries, all of which can affect fuel cost and overall operating results.

6 Q. Respecting pages 13 and 14 of Dr. Bauer's rebuttal testimony, why has the 7 Staff not included in its case the cost associated with performance share awards?

8 A. The triggering mechanism for the awarding of the performance shares is total 9 shareholder return (TSR), which is defined as Empire's stock price plus dividends paid out.
10 The total shareholder return of Empire is compared to that of a peer group chosen by the 11 HayGroup. Since the triggering mechanism is total shareholder return, obviously tied to 12 shareholder benefits, the Staff believes that the cost of this benefit should be borne by the 13 shareholder. By using the performance of a peer group to determine an incentive award, the 14 Company has established criteria that are based on financial performance and factors beyond 15 Empire's control. There is no direct correlation between Empire's stock price levels and 16 amount of dividend payouts and benefits to Empire ratepayers.

17 Q. Do you agree with Dr. Bauer when he states that the Commission and the Staff 18 should show substantial deference to the Compensation Committee's determination of the 19 appropriate measures and goals at page 12 of his rebuttal testimony?

20 A. No. Empire has the right to set employee base salary levels and develop 21 incentive compensation plans as it chooses. The determination of costs included in the utility 22 rates of Empire's Missouri ratepayers is the responsibility of the Commission. The Staff has 23 been given a role in the ratemaking process, pursuant to statute and Commission rule, to make

Surrebuttal Testimony of
Amanda C. McMellen

1 recommendations concerning, among other things, the recovery of utility expenses and the 2 setting of utility rate levels.

3 Q. Do you agree with Dr. Bauer's interpretation of your direct testimony, 4 discussed at page 12, line 23, to page 13, lines 1-2, of his rebuttal testimony that you have 5 assumed that executive compensation in the form of stock options and dividend equivalents, 6 at executive compensation provide no benefit to Empire?

7 A. No, I do not. The Staff is not contending that a corresponding benefit to 8 Empire shareholders associated with the executive long-term incentive stock options and 9 dividend equivalents does not result from offering these types of incentive compensation.
10 However, Dr. Bauer provides no support that these executive long-term incentives benefit 11 ratepayers.

12 Q. Please explain.

13 A. There are no goals associated with the executive long-term incentives except 14 for the TSR goal. The TSR measures Empire's stock price and dividends paid compared to 15 the peer group. Again, there is no direct correlation between the level of Empire's stock price 16 and dividend payouts and benefits to Empire ratepayers.

17 Q. Does Empire rely on the peer group to determine its targets for base salary, 18 total cash compensation or total direct compensation?

19 A. No. Please refer to Highly Confidential Schedule 1-4 through Schedule 1-5 for 20 an explanation of the philosophy and methodology used to determine Empire's targets for 21 compensation.

22 Q. What is the relevance of Dr. Bauer's rebuttal testimony, respecting the value of 23 peer groups at pages 14-16?

Surrebuttal Testimony of
Amanda C. McMellen

1 A. None. The peer group was only used by the HayGroup and Empire as a trigger 2 for the awarding of long-term incentive performance shares based upon the TSR goal. While 3 the Compensation Review includes data related to the peer group as a gauge to compare to the 4 All-Exec Group, Empire's compensation targets by category (base salary, total cash 5 compensation and total direct compensation) are based upon the All-Exec Group of 700 6 organizations.

7 Q. Does the Staff agree with Dr. Bauer's representation of the peer group?

8 A. Dr. Bauer's general representation of peer groups appears on the surface to be 9 reasonable, yet the details in Highly Confidential Schedule 1 specific to Empire's selected 10 peer group do not support his overall conclusions concerning Empire's incentive 11 compensation program in his testimony. Please refer to Schedule 1-20, Appendix B, attached 12 to my surrebuttal testimony where comparative financial information of the peer group 13 utilities is provided. On page 15, lines 10-11, Dr. Bauer states, "Commonality of industry and 14 size generally are the most important traits for an executive compensation peer group." The 15 Staff would agree that these traits are important but the peer group selected for the HayGroup 16 analysis and approved by Empire's Compensation Committee does not appear to be the best 17 fit for comparisons to Empire.

18 Several of the peer group utility companies are considerably larger than Empire. If 19 size is relative to total assets, the largest peer group company has over $3 billion in total 20 assets compared to Empire's $970 million. If size is relative to total revenues, the largest peer 21 group company has over $1.1 billion in total revenues compared to Empire's $306 million. It 22 is not surprising that the peer group utility company with the largest chief executive officer 23 total direct compensation ($1.9 million) also has assets and total revenues well in excess of

Surrebuttal Testimony of
Amanda C. McMellen

1 Empire's. The Staff would also emphasize that the peer group analysis does not appear to 2 support either annual incentives or long-term incentives for all executives. Appendix A of 3 Highly Confidential Schedule 1-15 through Schedule 1-19 shows that for the selected 4 comparable executive positions, there are utility companies within the peer group that do not 5 have annual incentives and/or long-term incentives.

6 The Staff's review of peer group utility company public information also indicates that 7 the mix of regulated to non-regulated business activity, the region of the country in which the 8 utility company operates and the different corporate structures of the utility companies make 9 comparisons to Empire less appropriate. Comparisons to utility companies within the 10 Midwest region or just Missouri within a peer group analysis would be more valid. Also, the 11 Staff believes that cost of living adjustments should be made when comparing compensation 12 levels at Empire to other companies in the peer group.

13 Q. Has the Staff performed an analysis of Empire's executive compensation or 14 management incentive plan (MIP) in prior cases?

15 A. Yes. The Staff documented the base salaries and MIP expenses in Empire 16 Case Nos. ER-97-81, ER-2001-299, ER-2002-424 and ER-2004-0570 and has consistently 17 applied the Commission's decisions previously noted.

18 Q. Has the disallowance of MIP expenses been a contested issue in any of these 19 cases before the Commission?

20 A. No. While other aspects of Empire's incentive compensation program were 21 contested by the Staff and Empire in Case No. ER-2001-299, the Staff's MIP disallowance 22 was not contested by Empire in that proceeding.

Surrebuttal Testimony of
Amanda C. McMellen

1 Q. Is the Staff opposed to the recovery of "at risk" executive incentive 2 compensation as stated by Dr. Bauer on page 9, line 11, continuing onto page 10, lines 1-10, 3 of his rebuttal testimony?

4 A. No. The Staff is not opposed to a portion of executive compensation being 5 placed "at risk." If Empire shows that this approach results in ratepayer benefits, the Staff 6 would not oppose recovery of these costs in cost of service.

7 Q. Does the Staff apply these same principles to salaried non-officer (non-8 executive) employees?

9 A. Yes. Although Empire has a well structured and documented incentive 10 compensation program for non-executive employees, not all of the goals provide benefits to 11 the ratepayers. Incentive compensation costs associated with the goals regarding items such 12 as normal job duties (as stated by the Company in response to Staff Data Request No. 240) or 13 non-regulated activities, which do not provide benefits to ratepayers, and should not be 14 recovered in cost of service.

15 Q. Is the Staff aware of any executive retention problem at Empire?

16 A. No. The executives that are currently at Empire have held other positions with 17 the Company before working their way up into their current executive positions. Dr. Bauer 18 did not address any recruitment or retention problems in his rebuttal testimony.

19 Q. Does Dr. Bauer directly address the Staff's disallowance of the "lightning bolt" 20 incentives included in your direct testimony?

21 A. No. Dr. Bauer does not specifically address Empire's position regarding the 22 "lightning bolt" awards.

Surrebuttal Testimony of
Amanda C. McMellen

1 Q. Is the incentive compensation disallowed by the Staff a large percentage of 2 payroll costs?

3 A. No. The amounts disallowed by the Staff for incentive compensation is only a 4 small portion of payroll costs as shown on Highly Confidential Schedule 2 attached to my 5 surrebuttal testimony.

6 Q. Does this conclude your surrebuttal testimony?

7 A. Yes, it does.

Schedules ACM 1 and 2 have been Deemed Highly Confidential in their Entirety.
